

Vaccine Safety

Generation Safety is a comprehensive, thoroughly researched website dedicated to 1) dispersing current, accurate information about vaccines and 2) educating the people about their vaccination options. This website provides a doctor-recommended alternative vaccination schedule that will help alleviate the immune system stress that the CDC's vaccination schedule inevitably causes.

Parents should know that they have a right to refuse vaccination. Also, if you choose to vaccinate, you can always follow a less aggressive vaccination schedule than the one that is recommended by the CDC. Vaccines are not tested for their "combination risk" and yet, that is how they are recommended to be administered. There are legitimate concerns over the safety of vaccines, and the best way to combat this increasing danger is through education and dispersing information.

This excellent resource can be visited here.